This is a sweet, clean, mail order bride, historical western romance by your favorite author Faith Johnson.

With the constable on her trail and no home to call her own, Maddie Mayfield has run out of options. So when the rather ominous Mr. Jones offers her a train ticket to California and a chance to start a new life as a mail order bride with his marriage service, she accepts his proposition. But she never expected to arrive hundreds of miles from home, in debt, and forced to marry a man she has never even met. And worse yet—a sheriff! William Fuller is a kind and patient man, but he is the sheriff for a reason, and he senses his new bride is keeping something from him. And when he gets a letter from his detective cousin in her hometown of New York, asking him to help solve a robbery, Maddie is afraid her secret is about to be revealed. Can she trust William with her past, or is she fated to be left alone again?
